DETAILED ACTION

Claims 62-97 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 11/17/05.

Upon reconsideration of the restriction claims 31-61 have been rejoined with group I. This office action contains an action on the merits for claims 1-61.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1- 61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Monte Carlo in view of Kelly 5,882,258.

Claims 1-5, 10-12, 15, 17-19, 28, 29, 31-35, 45, 60 and 61 are well known game of Monte Carlo shows the steps of displaying, selecting and removing. However, Monte Carlo is shown as a private game and does not award a prize. Kelly teaches that it would have been obvious to have awarded a player a prize in a private game like Monte Carlo (col. 1, Ins. 48-67) to play the game in a public place (col. 1, In. 11) so that the game can be attractive to casinos. The type of indicia of claims 6-9 and claims 37-42 is considered to be an obvious rearrangement of printed matter and matter of choice. More particular to claims 6 and 36, awarding a player a prize associated with the indicia corresponding to the game is considered old and well known. For example, in scratch off tickets a player will win a prize corresponding to the indicia revealed in the game. As to claims 13, 14, 43, 44 touch screen technology is old. As to claims 16 and 46, buttons are shown at 60 of Kelly. As to claims 20-27 and 47-58, it is taught by Kelly that a player is rewarded in a game depending upon their tasks performed towards the games' objective. This is admittedly old by applicant on the top of pg. 2 of his specification. To have rewarded a player for selected tasks in the performance of a game like Monte Carlo would have been obvious as taught by Kelly to reward a player for successful play of the game. Applicant has not shown were the rewards are critical to the play of the game by solving any particular problem or producing any unexpected results. Currently the player receives a reward based upon a predetermined task that is deemed rewardable by the game designer. This is nothing new since player can be rewarded for an unlimited number of tasks during the play of a game. Interactive help features as called for by claims 30 and 59 are old to games.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Chilese shows solitaire gambling card games in a video formate. Brown, Baerlocher and Tarantino show games.
